TUESDAY 12 JULY 2022 – 17.30 (Duration of Discussion 90')

The phenomenon of energy poverty has been worsening in recent years even in the economically robust countries of Europe, while in Greece it is becoming a chronic social challenge. The pandemic, but also the energy crisis, has highlighted access to energy as a prerequisite for ensuring a minimum level of decent living, while at the same time the assumption of additional roles by citizens is strongly promoted in the context of the energy transition. The active participation of citizens, local authorities and small and medium-sized enterprises in energy saving and energy production is a basic prerequisite for the energy transition - aiming at climate neutrality - to take place in terms of social justice and with society playing an active role.

In this context and with a view to informing citizens, INZEB and the Sparta Institute organise the online event/discussion "Energy Poverty and Energy Communities" on Tuesday 12 July 2022 at 17.30 with the support of the POWERPOOR and CONGREGATE projects.

Specifically, the topics that will be presented and discussed at the event are:

- Energy poverty and its negative impact on the health and well-being of citizens and the environment. Presentation of the findings of the nationwide survey on citizens' awareness of the phenomenon.
- The POWERPOOR project and citizen support tools to tackle energy poverty.
- Energy Communities as a tool for citizen engagement in the energy sector.
- The GONGREGATE project. Presentation of examples of partnerships between Local Authorities and citizens for the creation of Energy Communities.
